Nov. 16, 1927.

Mrs. Anne Witte,
Mt. Pleasant, Texas.

Dear Cousin Anne:

Just a word to let you know that I have not forgotten that most wonderful hospitality extended to me by you two years ago now. I have wished that I could have had the time to visit Texas during the Fall months, but find I cannot get away before Xmas.

I know you will have a most wonderful time Thanksgiving day, as I notice that Mr. J. E. Collier, President of the Texas Poultry Association, states in a Fort Worth press dispatch that the farmers of your State have marketed three and one-half million dollars worth of turkeys, and that they are now all smiling and feeling good.

We extend to you a most cordial invitation to visit us at some time. We are one and one-half hours out of Atlanta, and just one hour out of Macon on a splendid concrete highway where you can travel sixty miles an hour and then not think you are going fast. Come to see us.

With my very best wishes and kind regards, I beg to remain

Yours most cordially,